PRESS RELEASE

Local Teacher Teams with Non-profit to Present Seminar to Parents

Parents and community members are invited to learn how to teach someone to read.

Lake Elsinore, CA, Tuesday, October 27th: Elsinore First Assistance Center announced an open invitation to parents and community members to attend a seminar on how to teach someone to read. Local author and elementary teacher Vera Clark, MA will present her program on how to teach someone to read English in three easy steps.

Vera Clark is a teacher at Elsinore Elementary School and has just published an exciting new program to teach reading, called Vera Clark's Teach Me To Read English in 100 Easy Lessons. This book includes everything you need to teach a child or adult to read, including flashcards and simple, step-by-step instructions. In just fifteen minutes a day, a parent can use these simple two-page lessons to teach his or her child to read. There is no education required for the parent or child!

Elsinore First Assistance Center is a community based non-profit organization that is passionate about providing valuable resources to the community. That is why Elsinore First Assistance Center has invited Vera Clark to present this Tuesday evening at 6:00 pm on "How to Teach Your Child to Read!" In this presentation, Vera Clark will share the three simple steps to teach your child or loved one to read. She will share true stories and examples gained over her thirty plus years of experience teaching others to read, including the different ways that she motivated her four children to learn to read when each of them were just toddlers.

This presentation is designed for parents, grandparents, teachers, tutors, or anyone who has the desire to teach someone else to read. When you attend this presentation you will be equipped with Vera Clark's reading program and with the knowledge that you need to teach someone else the three simple steps to learn to read.

This Tuesday night's presentation will be held at Elsinore First Assemblies of God at 19740 Grand Avenue, Lake Elsinore, CA 92530. The $50.00 registration fee includes the cost of the reading program and a donation to the non-profit organization. Please register in advance by calling 951-678-1757 or by e-mailing info@elsinorefac.org. Walk-in registrants are welcome. Child care will be available.
